

Technological, dialectological and theoretical linguistics

Tid: 3. sep. 2010, 09:00 - 16:45

Sted: Helga Engs hus, aud. 3

Konferansen er åpen for alle

Program

09.00 – 09.15: Janne Bondi Johannessen and Bente Christensen (UiO): Welcome

Chair: Helge Lødrup (UiO)

09.15 – 09.45: Elisabet Engdahl (Göteborgs Universitet):

On morphosyntactic annotation of corpora

09.45 – 10.15: Tor Anders Åfarli (Norges teknisk-naturvitenskapelige universitet):

On the syntax of 'semantic' dative case in Norwegian dialects

10.15 – 10.30: COFFEE

Chair: Ruth Vatvedt Fjeld (UiO)

10.30 – 11.15: David Adger (Queen Mary, University of London):

Strings and structure: on the position of PP complements to N

11.15 – 11.45: Joakim Nivre (UU, Uppsala Universitet):

Inductive dependency parsing

11.45 – 12.15: Øystein A. Vangsnes (Universitetet i Tromsø): On the morphosyntax and functional migration of complex wh-expressions in North Germanic

12.15 – 13.15: LUNCH

Chair: Anneliese Pitz (UiO)

13.15 – 14.00: Joe Salmons (University of Wisconsin–Madison):

Sound change after contact: How old immigration is still shaping Am. English

14.00–14.30: Marit Julien (Lunds Universitet):

Plus(s) at(t) in Scandinavian — a minimal matrix?

14.30 – 14.45: COFFEE

Chair: Jan Svennevig (UiO)

14.45 – 15.30: Floyd A. Reed (Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Biology, Plön):

On gene–culture coevolution

15.30 – 16.00: Eckhard Bick (Syddansk Universitet, Odense):

Annotating corpora for linguistics

16.00 – 16.45: Cecilia Poletto (Istituto di Scienze e TecnoLogie della Cognizione, Padova):

Linguistic variation side B: why do dialects look alike?

Konferansen er støttet av:

Institutt for lingvistiske og nordiske studier, Nordic Centre of Excellence in Microcomparative Syntax (NORMS), Forskningsrådet, Bioteknologinemda

UiO • Institutt for lingvistiske og nordiske studier
Det humanistiske fakultet